But, she said, "I'm sorry that when you come to see us you won't find it. It's terribly expensive."

Bombers Threaten 3 Blasts Friday in Stuttgart Area

STUTTGART (AP) — A terrorist group called the "Red Army Faction" (RAF) threatened Sunday to set off three bombs Friday in Stuttgart "as a reminder of the bombing war of the U.S. imperialists in Vietnam."

A letter addressed to "citizens in Stuttgart" claimed three autos will be blown up between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. with bombs made of 66 pounds of TNT.

"Therefore, get off the streets and into houses on June 2 between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m., open windows and go into cellars. Only one hour. The people of Hanoi and many other cities there have to do this many hours each day and still they die," said a photostatic copy of the letter sent to the Associated Press and the West German news agency DPA.

The "Red Army Faction" already has claimed responsibility for a series of bombings over the last two weeks against U.S. Army compounds and West German buildings that have killed four U.S. servicemen and injured scores of other persons.

The threatening letter, a compilation of typewriting and newspaper and magazine cuttings, said "no one should be killed. The RAF wants to demonstrate that it can strike when and where it wants. . . ."

Authorities in this southwestern industrial city of 700,000 population were reported in an emergency meeting Sunday to plan security measures to counteract the threat.

The letter was dated "May 27, 1972" and included the heading "Heidelberg this week."

Two bombs exploded Wednesday night in autos parked inside the Heidelberg headquarters compound of USAREUR, killing an Army captain and two enlisted men and injuring five other Americans.
