

2 Arrested In Kidnaping

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Police arrested two persons today in connection with the kidnaping of a top West German industrialist by urban guerrillas who killed his driver and three bodyguards, and reportedly threatened to execute their captive.

Kurt Rebmann, federal prosecutor general, announced the arrests during a news conference at his office in Karlsruhe. He declined to name the two persons arrested.

Government officials said they awaited some word from the urban guerrillas who seized Hanns-Martin Schleyer, president of the West German Employers' Assn., Monday in Cologne. They assume the kidnapers will demand the authorities free urban guerrillas now in prison in return for Schleyer's release.

Rebmann said police study of the getaway car later abandoned by the kidnapers showed no signs of blood, an indication that neither Schleyer nor any of the guerrillas were wounded. Schleyer's guards were so surprised by the guerrilla submachine gun attack that they never had a chance to return their fire, Rebmann said.

Rebmann discounted calls being made to various newspaper offices around

Germany by a man claiming to be speaking for the kidnapers.

"We consider him just a man who has jumped on the running board," Rebmann said.

An anonymous telephone call to the Bild Zeitung newspaper said the 62-year-old Schleyer would be executed at 12:15 p.m. EDT today unless Andreas Baader, serving a life prison term for murder, is freed along with other terrorists.

A second anonymous call to the DPA news agency said the Red Army Faction, the official name of the Baader-Meinhof band, was responsible for the abduction.
